TIS MATRIX SWITCHER

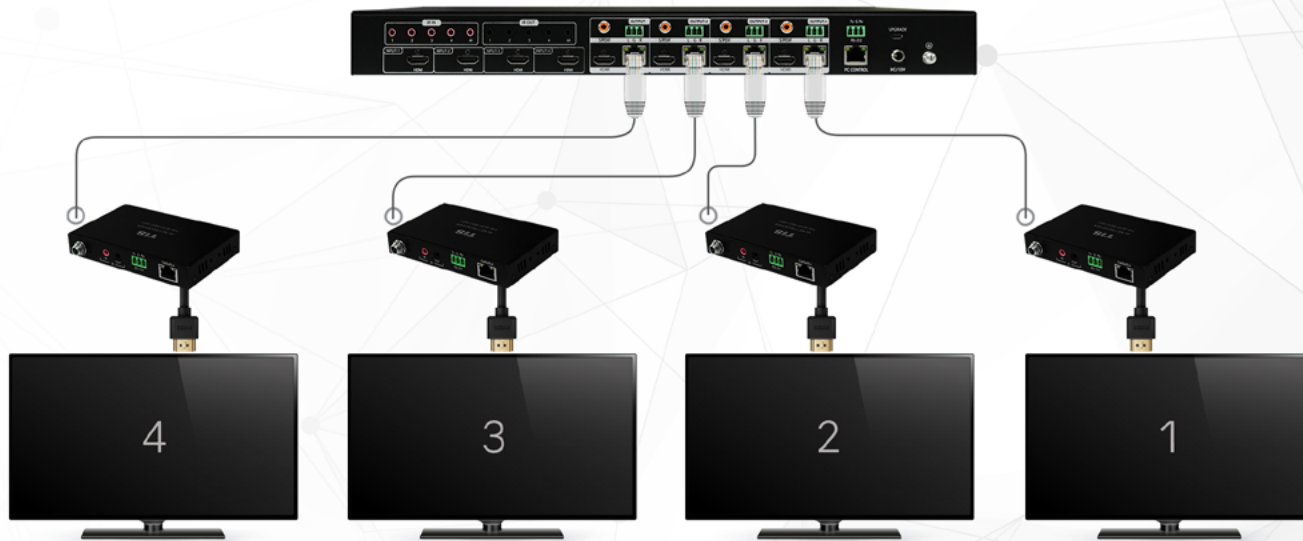

It goes without saying that a great home theater package lets everyone watch their favorite sports like a real fan. Spending time and money on a dream home AV or gaming system is a familiar story for all of us. Although finding a nice home entertainment system is not rocket science, the problem of limited HDMI ports can become quite annoying.

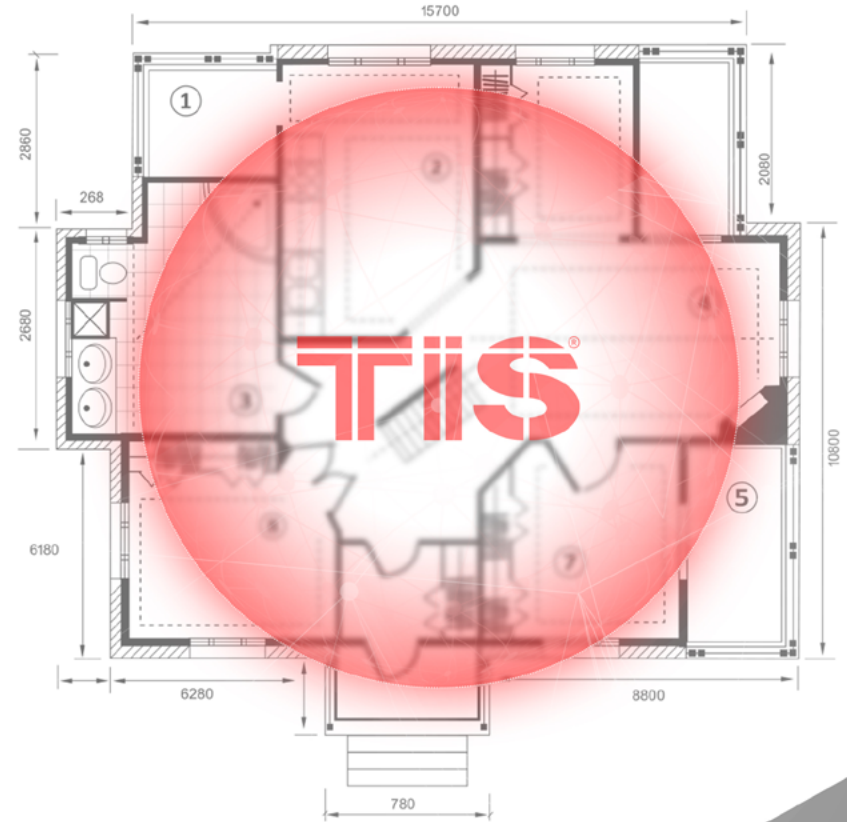

TIS Technology manages to solve this problem by introducing the beautiful 4x4 AV Matrix, a switcher with the ability to broaden the connectivity of a device with additional HDMI ports.

Simply fill the gap with this device. Add it to your home theater system and maximize your options. Connect more devices for an even more expanded stream of audio and video around the house.

This device means you won't have to make compromises on those nights when you are lying on the couch trying to watch a late night show while your friend catches up on the last episode of a favorite series in bed. It routes high-quality video and audio signals to multiple destinations.

You'll feel premium with the design and performance of this unit. It also helps with cable management and provides 4K resolution.

Use the TIS 4x4 Matrix Switcher for concert productions, virtual studios, events, parties, and even academic environments, and enjoy its easy-to-use design and efficient glitch-free functionality.

No more worrying about the limited number of HDMI ports; the TIS AV Matrix Switcher takes care of it.
